

1. How did you find about the contest, Ann?

I heard about the contest through The Pangolin Review's emails about upcoming issues. This journal is my window to the worldwide English-speaking poetry scene, so I try to read something from each issue.

2. What are your feelings on winning the second edition?

I was very excited to hear that I had won! It's also for a poem that's important to me as far as my personal history, so I'm happy that I wrote something that resonated with other people.

3. What you plan to do with the prize?

I may have already spent the prize money on cool ink and pens. :-)
